PRESS KIT 2026

MUSIC

With three singles out, most of the momentum so far has come from Pico De Amor, released through Connected, helping carry the project close to 250,000 Spotify streams overall. Each track started somewhere real: a dance floor, a road, or a feeling worth carrying home.

PICO DE AMOR · AFRO HOUSE

Released through Connected. Built for open air moments and already heard on dance floors, including Zamna Tulum.

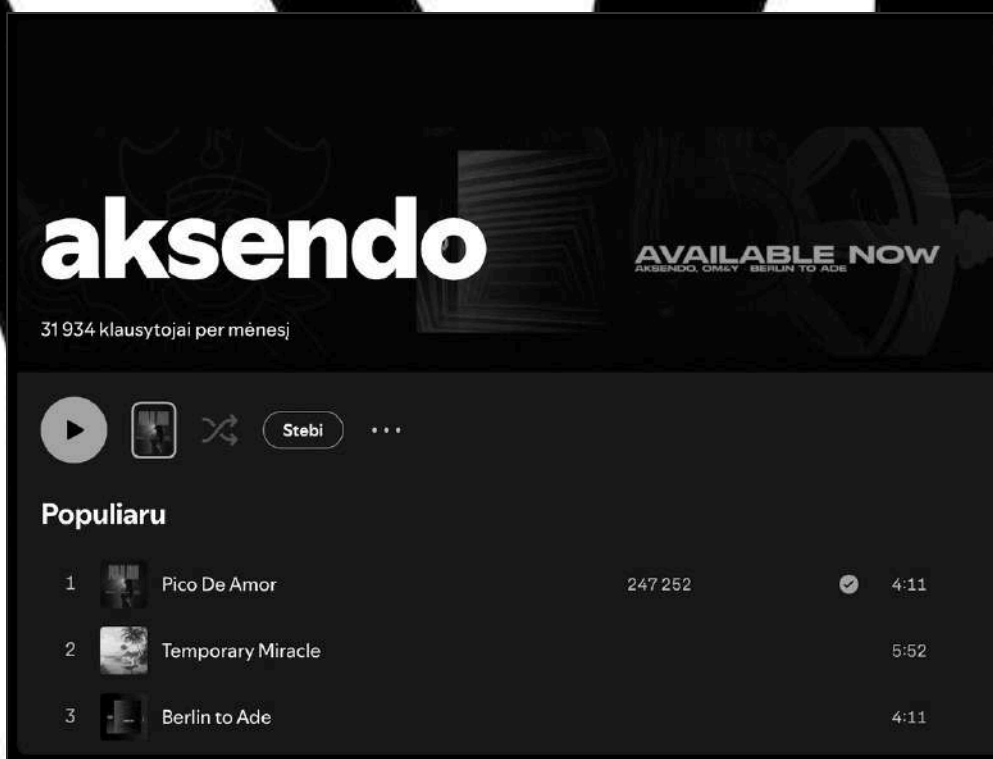

BERLIN TO ADE · MELODIC TECH HOUSE

Released via The Anchor Records. Written with OM&Y on the road from Berlin to Amsterdam Dance Event.

TEMPORARY MIRACLE · AFRO HOUSE

The first release, born from the feeling of freedom brought home from a holiday in Cyprus.

BIOGRAPHY

Aksendo is a 23-year-old house DJ and producer from Kaunas, Lithuania. He does not walk into a room with one fixed formula. His sets move through house, tech house, indie dance, Afro house and melodic territory, shaped by the place, the hour and the people in front of him.

A sunset on the Albanian coast, a yacht cutting through Croatia or a Friday night in Kaunas all ask for a different kind of energy. Feeling that shift and giving the room space is where he feels most at home.

When he leans into tech house or indie dance, his approach becomes especially hands-on. He likes to build the groove live by looping, layering, extending transitions and improvising in the moment, so the set keeps evolving instead of simply running track by track.

Lightness runs through everything he plays. His own productions begin the same way his strongest memories do, with a place, a road or a feeling he cannot quite leave behind.
